2021 Remembrance Day Video Service - EPCHS

Have a lovely weekend and take care.

Mrs Vile

For each other:
For each other:
Father, we pray for all those around us, for those who perhaps can hear this prayer, for those who, although further from us, are still close in our hearts, for those who do not know we love them, for those who do not love us and for those we might have forgotten.
We thank you for them, their lives and their hopes. Be ever close to them, holding your hand out to stop them from falling and keeping their lives on your most holy path. Amen

- Relationship, Sex and Health Education (RSHE) Parent Consultation

Dear Parent / Carer

During the academic year 2020/21, Relationships, Sex and Health Education (RSHE) became statutory in all secondary schools in England.

As a Catholic school, our mission is to support the spiritual, moral, social and cultural development of all of our pupils, rooted in the wisdom and teaching of the Church. The education of children in human sexuality is an important, precious and privileged responsibility. The Church teaches us that this is very much a partnership with parents, in which parents are the 'first educators' of their children on these matters; ultimately, you confer on us the right to co-educate your children with you.

To support the teaching of RSHE, in January 2021, we adopted Life to the Full by Ten:Ten Resources. Ten:Ten is an award-winning Catholic educational organisation that is well-respected and very experienced in this field of work.

Life to the Full has been approved by our diocese. Furthermore, Ten:Ten entered into a partnership with the Catholic Education Service and the Department for Education to provide training for teachers in Catholic schools on the subject of the new statutory curriculum which a number of our staff successfully completed.

Ten:Ten understand the foundational role that parents and guardians have in educating and nurturing their children on these matters. Through their online programme, they have built in resources which will not only keep you informed about what is being taught in school, but will also give you the opportunity to engage your children in discussion, activity and prayer.

To support our school further, we would therefore like to gather feedback on our approach. To this end, we have opened a consultation period during which we welcome your feedback.

Ten:Ten have provided an online Parent Consultation Tool. This is a simple-to-follow, short online course which:

- Outlines the statutory changes that have taken place.
- Articulates a vision for Catholic Relationships and Health Education.
- Explains how Life to the Full aims to help us fulfil the statutory curriculum with a Catholic ethos.
- Provides some information about key decisions we make, in consultation with parents.
- Answers some Frequently Asked Questions.

Ten Ten have also provided an Online Parent Portal to aid this process and we will be using it throughout the year to keep you informed and updated about the work we are doing in school in relation to RSHE.

To take part in the consultation and feedback, please do the following:

- Read the Relationship and Sex Education Policy on our school website:
<https://epchs.co.uk/wp-content/uploads/2020/07/Relationships-Sex-Education-Policy.pdf>
- Read the RSHE Learning Journey for students at EPCHS:

- Access the Parent Portal here:
<https://www.tentenresources.co.uk/online-parent-portal-secondary/>
- Access the Parent Consultation Tool here:
www.tentenresources.co.uk/parent-consultation-secondary
- You will need the following login credentials for our school:
Username: ellesmere-port-ch65

Correspondence

Letter to students

Published 11 November 2021

Dear Student

My name is Jo Saxton and I am Ofqual's Chief Regulator. My job is to make sure that qualifications, examinations and assessments in England are properly run and are as fair as possible to all those taking them. Together these things mean you have the best chance of getting the grades you deserve and passports to the next phases of your education and life.

While the country is still responding to COVID-19, I want to make sure you know what is going to happen next with the qualifications you are working towards and how changes we're making will affect you as you come to the end of your studies.

We want to get back to normal – that means getting back to exams and other formal assessment. Exams are set, marked and graded by examiners, with everyone taking the same assessments at the same time, in the same way. Other formal assessments have carefully designed and well-established marking arrangements. All this gives you the fairest chance to show what you know, understand and can do.

Arrangements for GCSEs, AS and A levels in 2022

Changes

I know that you might be concerned at the thought of taking exams next year after the disruption you have experienced. That is why we have put in place changes to exams and assessments to make them as fair as possible during the pandemic. This means that you can concentrate on what really matters– studying and revising as you prepare to get the best results you can.

The changes include advance information, designed to give you some help for revision ahead of summer exams. It will be published no later than 7 February, and your school or college will let you know when this is available.

If you want to know more about these changes your teachers will be able to explain what this will mean for each of your subjects. You can also find more information on the 2022 changes to exams and changes to non-exam assessments on our website.

Grading

When grading exams in 2022, we will aim for a grading standard that reflects a midway point between 2021 and 2019. This means that exam boards will set the grade boundaries so that more students get higher grades in 2022 than before the pandemic. This will provide a safety net for those students who might otherwise just miss out on a higher grade. We have taken this decision to reflect the disruption that you as a cohort have experienced already in your course.

Grading is monitored by the experts every step of the way, and as usual, we will review results for each subject before you get them.

Your interests are key to me – that means fairness and high-quality qualifications that will be recognised and valued: qualifications that employers, colleges and universities trust.

Contingency arrangements

Though we expect exams to go ahead as planned, if the 2022 exams cannot go ahead due to further Covid disruption, your grades will instead be determined by your teachers, using a Teacher Assessed Grade (TAG) approach. We have published our decisions about this approach following a public consultation, which included students. This means that your teachers will gather evidence, through assessments, to help them determine Teacher Assessed Grades (TAGs) if exams do not take place.

For many of you this year will be your first experience of formal exams. We don't want to add to your workload, which is why any additional assessments should help you prepare for your exams, and not create a distraction.

Your school and college will give you more information on the arrangements. We have also published guidance for your teachers.

Arrangements for Vocational and Technical Qualifications (VTQs)

We also expect exams and assessments to take place for VTQs in the 2021 to 2022 academic year. Vocational and Technical Qualifications include those such as BTECs, OCR Cambridge Technicals, Functional Skills and ESOL Skills for Life, among many others.

As there is such a wide range of different vocational and technical qualifications, it isn't possible to have just one approach for them all.

We have confirmed arrangements for the assessment and awarding of VTQs and other general qualifications, such as the International Baccalaureate, for 2021 to 2022, which take account of the disruption that you may have experienced.

If you're not sure what the arrangements are for the particular qualification that you're studying towards you should speak to your school, college or awarding organisation.

Additional information

If you have any questions, you should speak to your teachers who will be able to support you. You, or your parents or carers, might also find it helpful to sign up for updates on our website or by following our Instagram channel @Ofqual.

Good luck with your studies,

Dr Jo Saxton
